Wales is a land of legends and tales, of ancient castles and ancient bards.
The land of the Welsh is a land of history and tradition, a land of pride and honour.

The Welsh are a people of courage and strength, a people who have fought for their freedom and their rights.

loyalty and devotion, a people who have stood by their principles and their beliefs.

wisdom and insight, a people who have seen the world through their eyes and their hearts.

faith and hope, a people who have believed in a better world and a brighter future.

Today the Red Dragon (in Welsh, Y Ddraig Goch) is the proud national flag of Wales. This fiery creature is close to our hearts. It is thought that the ancient Welsh kings were using the dragon as a royal emblem by the early 5th century AD. In this they followed Roman cohorts that carried hollow metal 'draco' standards, through which the wind howled, to instill fear in their foes.
